Producers LINK is organised by Young Horizons Industry and Cinekid for Professionals.

Young Horizons Industry is an international co-production forum. The forum is a part of the Young Horizons brand that is responsible for distributing and supporting high-quality films and series for young audiences. The forum creates space to inspire, present new content and empower creatives to make meaningful and relevant audio-visual content for a young audience.

Cinekid for Professionals is the professionals programme of Cinekid Festival. The event provides the industry with a meeting platform to present and support projects and filmmakers in various capacities through programmes such as Junior Co-production Market and Industry Forum.

Both events aim to stimulate the development and production of high-quality kids and young audience content through international talent programmes throughout the year, its co-production markets, promotion, matchmaking, and exchange of knowledge through their conference programmes. Both events have been vital places for emerging production companies and producers who want to take the step into children's productions. Young Horizons Industry is mostly focused on the Central, Southern and Eastern European landscape while Cinekid focuses on Pan-European and broader international landscape.
